

FIRE DESTROYS LISBON MILLING CO.'S PLANT

$28,000 ESTIMATED TOTAL LOSS; BARN, WAREHOUSE RAZED

2 Chubby Blue-Eyed Baby Girls Left At Doorstep Of Doctor

CINCINNATI, Dec. 12 — Two chubby blue-eyed girls—Mary and Martha—today were temporary wards of the city, as police sought the person who deserted them on a physician's doorstep, shortly after midnight.

The name "Mary" was written on a slip of paper pinned to a pink blanket around one; "Martha" was similarly written on a slip attached to a blue-trimmed blanket around the other.

They were found by Miss Sarah Barr, nurse attendant in the office of Dr. Alfonso Aratus. She had attended a show last night and had gone to the office to get a pet dog, which curiously enough, also was a wife, found on the same doorstep only last Sunday night.

The babies were not there when she entered, she told police, but as she left the office, she said she heard a faint cry from the doorway below. Two bottles of milk, still warm, had been tucked in the blankets.

Their ages estimated at from a month to six weeks. The youngsters appear to be normal and healthy, hospital attendants reported.

Owners and Officials Un- able to Determine Cause of Blaze

SPREADS QUICKLY OVER STRUCTURE

Large Quantity of Live- stock Feed, Grain Destroyed

The plant of the Lisbon Milling company at Lisbon and two barns and a warehouse nearby were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin which started at 11 o'clock last night.

Walter A. Smith, manager of the mill company, today estimated his loss at approximately $25,000 while the destruction of the two barns and warehouse will entail an additional loss of probably $3,000.

The mill company loss is partially covered.

Can't Determine Loss

Mill officials as well as police and firemen were unable today to account for the fire which swept rapidly throughout the building.

New buckwheat, flour, wheat and livestock feed in large quantities were consumed by the flames.

A warehouse on the west side of the alley, opposite the mill company plant, and owned by O. S. Hill, was caught by the flames and destroyed. A barn owned by Ezra Bye, on the north side of the building, also was burned to the ground, and another barn, east of the mill structure, owned by Joseph Pasture, contributed to the conflagration.

Salem fire department sent a truck to the county seat and aided in preventing the spread of the flames to other nearby structures.

False Alarm Sounded

As the fire was at its height, a false alarm was turned in, pulling the Salem truck and another away from the burning company blaze. Police were investigating today.

The Lisbon Milling Co. plant was formerly operated by the Moff brothers of Salem, who sold out to East Liverpool interests about seven or eight years ago.

It is located on Nelson ave, near the Pittsburgh and Lisbon railway.

Bandits Scoop Up Jewelry At Store

(By Associated Press)
ASHLAND, Ky., Dec. 19.—Authorities today sought a bandit gang of three or four men—the victims were uncertain how many there were—who held up the Rogers jewelry store here late yesterday and escaped with an estimated $6,000 in watches, gems and money. The bandits cowed the manager, three clerks and five customers, with guns, while they scooped up the loot in a sack and fled in a car which was waiting nearby, police said.

No Plans Today

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 19.—Read all the papers through today and I can't find a new plan to save the country! Kind of slack season before Christmas, I guess; boys ain't thinking as part as they usually are. That Yugoslav! They just seem to want to fight anyhow. Be a good joke on them if nobody prevented 'em.

We had heard of all kinds of likely wars between nations, but this one that Mussolini dug up is a new one. Italy vs. Ethiopia, that's going a long way for an enemy.

DILLINGER IOU FOR $11,000 WAS CELL DOOR 'KEY'

Arch Criminal Bought His Way Out of Jail at Crown Point

KEEPS BARGAIN WITH HIS AIDS

One of Middlemen, How- ever, Didn't, and Some Went Short

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 — The Daily News today said it had learned that John Dillinger bought his way out of the Crown Point, Ind., jail last March on a promise to pay $11,000. Dillinger, it said, kept his part of the bargain, but that one of the middlemen kept part of the money and those who aided him in the escape actually received only about half that amount.

Details Collected

The News said that details of the Crown Point "wooden gun" episode and the Dillinger gang's escape from the Indiana state penitentiary were in the hands of Special Inspectors J. H. McWhorter and J. J. McCarthy and Supervising Captain John Stige of the Chicago police.

The information that Dillinger bought his way out of the Crown Point jail, the story related, came from Arthur O'Leary, former investigator for Louis Piquette, Dillinger's lawyer, and under indictment with him on a charge of harboring Dillinger.

The Daily News did not name the persons to whom the money was reported to have been paid, stating that as a matter of public policy it was not disclosing any information that might hamper the Indiana state's case against the Dillinger accomplices.

Indictments Loom

Indiana officials, The News said, were ready to return numerous indictments, some of which will include a few Indiana notables, covering the entire history of the Dillinger gang in that state.

According to the story, Dillinger paid $11,000 to a middle man, not a federal prisoner, and the middle man, being a little short of money himself, held out on his companions and eventually paid little more than half the amount promised.

INFANT STAM'S LIFE IS SAVED

Chinese Christian Pastor and Wife Rescue Orphan

(Copyright, 1934, By The Associated Press)

WUHU, Anhwei Province, China, Dec. 19.—Helen Priscilla Stam, four-months-old and an orphan, ate and slept contentedly today in the rear of the mission.

Outside the quiet institution, Chinese authorities began the process of legal retribution against the Chinese Communists who killed Helen's American missionary parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stam. They captured five alleged Communists and beheaded four at once.

Tells of Rescue

Dr. C. K. Lo, a Chinese Christian pastor, told how he and Mrs. Lo had saved the child from death when the Communists raided the mission at Tsingteh December 7.

He told how Chinese women nursed the child to keep it alive while he and his wife brought her the 70 miles on foot from the ravished mission.

Dr. Lo said he arrived at Tsingteh the day after Mr. and Mrs. Stam had been executed and learned that Helen Priscilla was still alive.

"The townfolk were afraid to give information," he said, "but finally an old lady pointed to a deserted house. I entered and heard the crying of an infant. It had been there at least 24 hours without care or food."

"I took the infant and found a Chinese mother among a group of sympathetic persons. She volunteered to nurse the child."

"I got my wife and our own baby and the Stam infant and placed the two children in a rice basket. Then we began the 70 mile walk to the nearest town, enroute to Wuhu."

"We carried the basket containing the infants, and mothers along the way nursed Helen Priscilla."

Tiny Lifeboat Triumphs Over Waves of North Atlantic

ated Press)

ABOARD THE S. S. EUROPA AT SEA, Dec. 19 — Sixteen men, perilously near death on the storm crushed freighter, Sisto, owe their lives today to a gallant lifeboat crew from the passenger liner New York.

Amidst storm lashed seas, the Sisto's crew was taken from the sinking freighter late last night while four vessels, including the palatial Europa, stood by playing searchlights on the scene.

The dramatic victory of the New York's tiny lifeboat over the North Atlantic was accomplished as virtually every person on the Europa watched anxiously the progress of the rescue craft to an from the freighter.

Shout With Joy

There was a great shout of joy from the Europa as the lifeboat reached the side of the New York in safety.

It had been a precarious trip for the small rescue boat, for the rolling seas tossed the craft like a bobbing cork. It reached the side of the crippled Sisto, however, and the members of her crew, weary from long hours of battling the savage storm, dropped quickly into the lifeboat.

Then began the even more dangerous trip back to the New York for this time the boat was laden almost to ton capacity. Although lights from the surrounding vessels pierced the darkness, there were times when the lifeboat was scarcely visible from the Europa and only an occasional flash of an oar could be seen.

Rescue None Too Soon

The rescue of the 16 men of the Sisto, a Norwegian boat, was accomplished apparently none too soon, for the little vessel was in a helpless condition when the Europa reached the scene of distress.

England's Gallows Claim Mother Of 2

HULL, England, Dec. 19.—After appeals to the king and queen had failed to save her, Mrs. Ethel Lillie Major, aunt, 42-year-old mother of two children, was hanged today at Hull prison.

A black flag was hoisted over the gallows when she went to her death, the first woman to be executed in England in eight years. Until the end she maintained she was innocent of the charge of poisoning her husband.

Three hundred curious persons milled about outside the prison as she mounted the gallows.

COAST HUNTING MISSING WOMAN

Member of Wealthy Cloth- ing Family Leaves Isolated Home

(By Associated Press)

CARMEL, Calif., Dec. 19 — The rugged country and beaches around Carmel were searched today for Mrs. Eliot Boke Schaffner, 39-year-old member of the wealthy clothing family.

Apparently clad only in nightgown, bedroom slippers and a fur coat, she disappeared between midnight and dawn yesterday from her isolated home on the southern tip of this artist's village.

Released only Monday from Monterey hospital where she was taken ten days ago for a rest, fears were felt Mrs. Schaffner may have wandered into the ocean surf on Carmel bay or into the tidal mouth of the Carmel river, both close to her home.

After a day of secret though intensive search by the village police, bloodhounds were brought by air from Berkeley to Monterey county during the night to join the hunt for the missing woman.

Her husband, Joseph H. Schaffner, a director of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, was flying to Carmel from Chicago. The socially prominent couple divided their time between New York, Chicago, Carmel and San Francisco, 135 miles north of here.

Her sister, Mrs. Marion Todd of San Francisco, early this morning reached the Carmel home from which the search is being directed.

Like attendants at the hospital where Mrs. Schaffner was recently confined, Mrs. Todd refused to discuss her sister's illness.

Mrs. Schaffner's disappearance was discovered yesterday morning when a maid brought breakfast to her room only to find it deserted. A careful check of Mrs. Schaffner's wardrobe disclosed she stopped only long enough to slip on slippers and pull a fur coat over her nightgown.

WORK HALTED ON COURT HOUSE

Re-Dedication Program May Be Delayed As Result

LISBON, Dec. 19.—Shortly after noon Tuesday, all work on the reconstruction of the court house here was suspended because of lack of funds.

As a result, the offices of County Auditor John H. Irwin and County Treasurer John C. Litt probably will not be removed to the courthouse until sometime in January.

County commissioners were expected to meet in the courthouse this week, but furniture has not been delivered.

Only a skeleton crew of workers is now being employed, a few being skilled and a few unskilled.

Whether or not the dedication program scheduled for Dec. 31 will be adhered to cannot be determined at this time.

Probate Judge H. W. Hammond, chairman of the re-dedication committee, representing the Columbiana County Bar association, accompanied by County Commissioner Austin I. Getz, left for Columbus Tuesday afternoon to confer with those in authority at the State FERA office, and to urge an additional grant of funds to continue work on the courthouse project.

POOR JOHN BULL

It would have been—still is a good bet that the Saar plebiscite and preparations therefor will be accompanied by unpleasant incidents. One happened Sunday. The version which has reached this country is vague, but informative.A British police officer, Capt. James Justice, and a British nobleman, the Earl of Aylesford, were attacked by a mob. A resident of the Saar was wounded. These are the established facts. Not so well established are the incidents leading up to violence.The two Englishmen and a German woman, it appears, were riding in an automobile which accidentally was driven over a curbstone, slightly injuring a Saar woman who was walking on the sidewalk. Capt. Justice, driver of the car, apologized and offered to pay the woman for damages.A crowd collected. Hoots and insults Capt. Justice, who lost his temper and drew his revolver. Perhaps accidentally, a member of the crowd was shot. The mob decided to take revenge, and Capt. Justice ended up in the hospital.Propaganda Minister Goebbels of Germany, which expects to take over the Saar as a result of the plebiscite next month, has commented that "the whole thing was just a boozing carousal; it is well known that the English while under the influence of liquor are apt to lose control of themselves in a much worse way than Germans." All agree the incident was unfortunate and probably, in view of tension, unavoidable.The important thing seems to be Great Britain's reluctance to help out in the League of Nations police program for the Saar, to preserve order until after the plebiscite. Against his better judgment John Bull finally volunteered to be represented in the district's police force. Like most intercessors, the reward for his pains will be insults and recriminations from the beneficiaries of his broad and kindly interest. Before the Saar business is over Downing street probably will wince at mention of it.

BY WHAT RIGHT?

By what right, Americans are asking, does Japan presume to tell the United States what it should do about cutting a canal through Nicaragua. Not long ago Japanese were asking the same question when this government warned Japan not to gain control of Manchuria.Objections to Japan's Manchurian policy availed nothing. Japan did what it believed it had to do to protect its interests. Yet, the Japanese foreign office warns that a Nicaraguan canal would look like "the United States still enforcing its Caribbean policy in Central America."In the post-war years Japan's principal contribution to international relations has been frankness.
By facing facts, by standing on its own feet, by running its own affairs, it has helped to bring the world into an era of realism. The polite, evasive diplomacy of the decade following the World War, when the United States almost was convinced that Europe sincerely wanted peace, was more comfortable, perhaps, but it had the disadvantage of being misleading and, therefore, dangerous.Unfortunately, Japan does not seem to have profited by its own example, or it would not voice objections to a Nicaraguan canal. Japanese statesmen know that such a canal would have military value in case of war. They know that whenever the United States becomes convinced that a canal should be constructed in Nicaragua no amount of formal objecting will stop it. It's difficult to understand why, with Manchuria under Japanese control despite international objections, Japan should seem to think it can prevent an equally natural and perhaps eventually necessary development in Nicaragua.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 — The romance of the road show, which made New York the world's theatrical capital, has faded to a faint blur. It was hoped that the success of Katharine Cornell's experiment last year would revive interest in trouping, but it hasn't.Nearly all picturesque advance men and road managers like Ziegfeld's Pop Rosenthal have gone over the horizon. Herbert Swope was once a dynamo "ahead of the show." So was Channing Pollock. Gustave Frohman went ahead for Frohman shows and rode a bicycle from city to city, sporting a pair of white sprig spats.One of the perpetual hard-luck agent-managers was Frank Dietz. He began life as a worker in a sea food restaurant and it was a Broadway legend he graduated from opening oysters to closing shows.
The biggest shot advance man was the bediamonded
E. Burke Scott, out front for May Irwin and William Gillette.The best job of advance agenting in America was done by Will Connor. He was given $50,000 by the Shuberts to take over a Sarah Bernhardt contract.
He took the divine Sarah through the south playing in a tent and made a fortune for himself as well as producers.James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo" was the most spectacular touring success of that period. Fred E.
Dayton was the agent and handled a company of 200 with a production requiring ten cars of scenery.One memorable evening O'Neill became confused in the Chateau d'H scene, where he emerged to declaim in rags: "The world is mine!" Incidentally, there was always a gallery god with a suggestion following this line. Dayton got a wire service to send out a comic yarn how O'Neill narrowly escaped drowning in the sea cloths scene and it boosted receipts for several weeks. An enormous touring success, too, was W. A.
Brady's "Way Down East," the first of the big b'goosh shows that ran for years.Another—the fifth—Terhune has been added to the celebrated Writing Terhunes. Five of her six first short stories have sold like that—snapt! The very first appearing in Good Housekeeping was considered for the O. Henry Prize. A certain editor, who will be nameless here as Arthur McKeogh, met Miss Terhune at Fanny Henslip Lee's tea. "You ought to be writing fiction," said the editor, waving away the cloud of fast flying bon-mots, "if your dialogue is anything like your conversation." Later he asked his hostess:
"Who is Lorraine Stevens?" He was told her middle name was Terhune and that's how a daughter of Albert Payson Terhune took up the family trade.Movie researchers for the Diamond Jim Brady film have discovered that the opulent Broadwayite probably had the first penthouse. The second was that of Henry L. Doherty, overlooking the harbor on State street. Brady's was atop a hotel on Broadway at 21st street. One of the views looking north provided a vista of the famous Ben Hur chariot race on the roof of the Normandie Hotel. At the time it was the most pretentious of the White Way's galaxy of signs. Next was the siphon filling the high-ball glass directly below the Globe theatre.A spy tells me Bruno Lessing, whose Epicurean essays cause strong men to break down and weep and drive dyspeptics to violent attacks of hunger, is himself a most impossible practitioner of cuisine. Now and then he lets his cook off for the evening at one of his various foreign menages, invites his cronies and enters the kitchen himself. He even dons the chef's familiar white cap. But the results are said to be terrible. Among laymen in New York noted for their cooking skill are Bob Davis, Ted Saucier, Karl K. Kitchen, Walter Chrysler, Jr., Rube Goldberg and
R. M. Brinkerhoff.Thingumabobs: Joseph Hergeshimer's first literary

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, December 20

A day of surprising and quite unforeseen events is the presage based on the lunar and mutual aspects.
Such visitation will come abruptly and have a far-reaching effect on the future destiny. Travel, fresh opportunities and environs are shown, with excellent prospects for stabilizing the fortune or accumulating real possessions. Labor and industry should thrive, but be careful in employment and sign all writings with precaution. Be wary of fraud and misrepresentation.Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden changes, affecting the destiny with radical and surprising force. Journeys, new environs and fresh associations are foreseen—all with a trend toward stabilizing the fortunes and increasing the possessions. Sign all contracts cautiously and guard against small losses and extravagance.A child born on this day may be profound, inventive, practically constructive but fond of change and adventure.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York CityDrink Plenty of Water, It's EssentialTO MAINTAIN good health, man requires a liberal supply of drinking water. Scientists have summarized the reasons why water is necessary for the body.The digestive fluids and the proper absorption
of food depend upon an adequate supply of water. An abundant amount of fluid is essential for transporting soluble substances
through the blood and lymph
streams.Water is necessary for keeping the materials
in solution so that chemical reactions can take place in the tissues. The waste products of the body are carried away dissolved in water. The body temperature is regulated by its fluids.Water is constantly lost by the body in performing important body processes. It is excreted from the body through the kidneys; it escapes by the skin in perspiration;
by the lungs and through the intestines. This loss, amounting to approximately two and a half quarts a day in the average individual, must be made up by fluids, foods and drinking water taken into the body.

Six to Eight Glasses Daily

All fluids, such as soups and beverages, are almost wholly water.
Solid foods contain large amounts of water. For example, bread contains about thirty-five per cent water, although crackers carry six per cent. Many fruits and vegetables have a water content of ninety per cent. But in addition to fluid derived from these sources, it is necessary to drink six to eight glasses of water daily.Many persons complain of lack of
"pep," loss of appetite, nausea,
constipation and nervous disorders.
When they consult the doctor it is often found that they drink little or no water. In many instances distressing symptoms disappear
when an adequate amount of water is taken daily.It is unfortunate, but nevertheless a fact, that the great majority of people drink too little water. To overcome this bad habit, I would suggest a definite schedule for drinking water. Drink one or two glasses on rising. Some individuals might prefer hot water at this time. Drink a glass of water before or during each meal, one in the afternoon, and one or two glasses during the course of the evening. Once this daily routine is established the drinking of water will become a pleasure rather than a task as it is with too many.Water is really an essential food.
Like all other foods it is imperative that it be clean and free of germs. If you live in a section of the country where there is some doubt as to the purity of the water, it is always a good plan to thoroughly boil all that is to be used for drinking or cooking purposes.
Fortunately, most cities and municipalities have repeated tests and inspections made of all public reservoirs. Water from natural and artificial wells should be periodically tested for contamination.It will be of interest to many to learn that water is not fattening.
I am sure many persons omit water from the diet because they fear they will gain weight. If you enjoy water at meals do not hesitate to drink it. Above all, make sure you get your necessary quota of water.

Salem High's Cagers Knock Off Lisbon in Third Straight Win

Charles McCloskey Sets Pace for Quakers as They Wallop Neighborhood Foe, 41 to 11, on Local Hardwood Tuesday Night

By RAY L. DEAN, News Sports Editor

Salem's Quakers, thirsting for revenge of some sort after Lisbon's Springer and his cohorts trampled them on the gridiron this fall, slaked their appetites last night with the refreshing draught of a 41 to 11 basketball conquest on the local court.

The feat was practically a duplicate of last year's Salem-Lisbon fray which ended 40 to 11 in favor of the Red and Black. Three consecutive victories now belong to the Salem High quintet and last night's game and the one with Wellsville, place Salem right up on top of the world in the Columbiana county standing—so far.

Salem Scores Consistently

Scoring on the part of the Quaker basketweavers was consistent from the start. The eleven-point lead which Salem snatched at the opening was followed in the second quarter by six more, and 12 more valuable markers in the third and the same number in the final period.

Smith registered the first and only bucket for Lisbon in the opening period. In the second frame the Blue and White tallied four more and four more again in the third canto. A foul try by Nace near the end of the game gave Lisbon their only point.

McCloskey High Point Man

Charles McCloskey at guard position, set the pace for his fellow Quakers with a total of eight points on three field goals and two free throws. Cope and Palmer trailed with six each while Beck sank two through the mesh besides a free throw for five points.

Coach Herb Smith started Mullins and Cope at the forwards, Palmer at center, and Beck and

Co-coaches Marshal Their Players for New Year's Game

(By Associated Press)

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 19.—Dick Hanley, depoted Northwestern football coach, went back to work at the old stand today as he and Andy Kerr of Colgate marshalled the eastern forces for the annual New Year's charity game against the west.

Twenty-two outstanding players from eastern university and college teams answered the call of the co-coaches. The players will be equipped with special uniforms and put through a light workout after which they will entertain for San Francisco, scene of the game. Short workouts will be held enroute but most of the training will be done at the university of California.

85,000 TO SEE ROSE BOWL DUEL

That's the Prediction of Alfred Masters, Stanford Manager

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 19.—Alfred Masters, Stanford graduate manager, today predicted a record crowd of 85,000 for the Rose Bowl football classic between Stanford and Alabama here New Year's day.

Masters' prediction was made after the first day of public sale which boosted the total sales to better than 60,000 double the attendance for the Stanford-Columbia encounter a year ago.

"I know," said Masters, "that sometimes advance figures are padded but there is no hokum about the fact that we have less than 25,000 tickets left and these undoubtedly will be sold before Christmas day."

That would amount to about $240,000 gross receipts. After expenses approximately $180,000 would be left to split three ways—to Alabama, Stanford and the Tournament of Roses committee.

The last capacity crowd attracted to a Rose Bowl encounter, was in 1927, when 87,000 persons saw Alabama and Stanford play to a 7 to 7 tie.

MOUNT UNION WINS EASILY

Windland, Schultz Shine as Mount Trips Heidelberg, 46 to 19

The basketball schedule settled down into its steady, seasonal pace last night with three Ohio college games.

Mount Union, demonstrating its dribbling and passing before the home folks at Alliance, had little trouble defeating Heidelberg, 46 to 19. Two Mount Union juniors, Bill Windland, guard, and Evan Schultz, forward, scored more points than the entire Heidelberg team.

Windland dropped in seven field goals and a free throw for a total of 15 points and the net swished six times for Schultz who scored 12 points.

Cedarville college opened its season auspiciously with a 28 to 19 victory over the competent third Lutheran church team of Springfield. Waddie, Cedarville forward, sank seven field goals and two free throws for a total of 16 points.

The University of Cincinnati, also playing on the home court, defeated the University of Dayton, 49 to 18. Every man in the Cincinnati lineup scored at least one field goal.

Racing Notes

Keen competition for the patronage of the increasing racing public has borne fruit in announcement of larger stakes for the 1935 racing season.

Officials of New York tracks, perhaps perturbed by losses of customers to new courses in New England, have increased the endowments of several important handicaps.

Advices from Louisville are to the effect the Kentucky Derby will have $40,000 added next year, to increase of $10,000 over the 1934 figure.

The amazing popularity of racing in sections where betting has recently been legalized, notably New England, Michigan and Florida, is offset somewhat by the decline of interest in places where racing long has been a fixture, and the older tracks appear determined to do something about it.

TOPNOTCHER TO SUCCEED JONES AS LSU COACH

So Huey Long Says; President Smith Accepts Jones' Resignation

(By Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19.—The resignation of Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones as football coach at Louisiana State university—all because he dated defy the "Kingfish" Senator Huey P. Long—was in the hands of President James M. Smith today.

Senator Long said he understood a nationally known "topnotcher" had been chosen to succeed Jones, but Dr. Smith said a "half dozen" prospective coaches were being considered to replace Jones.

"I understand they've already picked a new coach—one with a national reputation," Long said last night in the senate after Dr. Smith announced that Jones' resignation had been accepted, effective Jan. 1.

Will Name Successor

"He's a topnotcher," Long said, "but his appointment has not been announced out of courtesy to Coach Jones, whose resignation is not effective until the first. I guess it'll be announced then."

Friction between Jones and Long, who has been accused of trying to "run the team" reached a climax after the intercollegiate battle between L. S. U. and Oregon last Saturday, which L. S. U. won 14 to 13 after staging an uphill battle.

Long attempted to enter the dressing room at the half to make a "pep" talk, but Jones, busy diagraming a defense against Oregon plays, refused to let him speak, and then told the senator he was "through."

Jones' Record Good

Dr. Smith in accepting the resignation, said he did so "with great reluctance."

Jones will continue at the university as an assistant professor of military science and tactics, to which the war department assigned him when he came here as coach.

Jones made the best record of any football coach in the history of L. S. U.

Just Oddities

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—To Rogers Hornsby's assertion that Cleveland ought to win the American League pennant next season, Walter Johnson responds with an optimistic "maybe."

While the coos moaned, the chickens chucked and his bird dogs yelped, the Indians' manager leaned against a fence on his eight acre farm near Bethesda, Md., and admitted he looked for a good club, perhaps a pennant winner.

"Forney was right about our having a good club," he said. "We have some swell youngsters and unless injuries or other troubles visit us, I reckon we have as good a chance as any other team."

Johnson feels the Indians' success rests largely with a rookie second baseman—Louis Berger, up from New Orleans of the Southern association.

BOBBY GRAYSON FIT FOR GAME

Stanford Fullback Starts Practice Today For Alabama Clash

(By Associated Press)

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 18.—Bobby Grayson, Stanford's premier fullback, has completely recovered from serious injuries suffered last Nov. 24 and will be ready for Alabama and the New Year's day Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena.

This cheering news was given to Coach Claude (Tiny) Thornhill by Team Physician Dr. Fritz Roth today. Dr. Roth said Grayson's torn rib cartilages had mended and he could return to practice at once.

Others Now Okay

Five other Stanford players, crippled or sick, also were pronounced either completely well or nearly recovered. James Moscrip and Keith Topping, regular ends, will be ready for workouts late this week. They have been on the shelf for weeks with wrenched knees. Claude Callaway, tackle; Jack Drown, first reserve tackle; and Frank Alustiza, quarterback, have shaken off illness.

The only casualty remaining, Stan Anderson, first substitute for Grayson, still is under observation. He was sent to the hospital last week suffering from a heavy cold which threatened to develop into pneumonia.

PITTSBURGH — Lou Brouillard, former champion, and Sammy Slaughter, negro middleweight of Terre Haute, head a boxing show here Christmas day.

J. "Dizzy" Dean Scores Landslide in Newspaper Star Performer's Poll

Sports Editors Pick Cardinal Pitcher as Star of Any Sport; William Lawson Little, Jr., Named Runner-Up

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Picking up where his great southpaw rival Carl Owen Hubbell, left off a year ago, the celebrated Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean rules the sporting roost of 1934 as the outstanding performer in any sport by virtually a landslide vote of acclaim in the fourth annual Associated Press sports poll.

Nearly 75 per cent of the ballots, received from sports writers and editors throughout the country, named the right-handed pitching ace of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals as the No. 1 athlete of the year, amateur or professional.

He was out at the head of the list by 76 out of 112 observers, each of whom was asked to name the three outstanding athletes of 1934. He easily outscored such notable rivals as William Lawson Little, Jr., Max Baer, Fred Perry and Glenn Cunningham, who finished in that order, and collected a total of 263 points in the complete tabulation, more than double the total for Little.

Hubbell, the 1933 winner, failed to receive a single vote.

Daffy Not Forgotten

Winner of 30 games during the regular National League season and victor in two out of three world series starts, Dean's accomplishments as well as his colorful personality appealed more strongly to the sporting fraternity than the exploits of any baseball star since Babe Ruth was at the peak.

A share of the vote in this year's poll, however, coupled Dizzy and his 21-year-old brother Paul or "Daffy" Dean, as an "entry" on the grounds that their pitching accomplishments are inseparable. Thus, while Dizzy stood at the top of the list, he also combined with his brother to finish fifth on the basis of this freak balloting.

Little's Runner Up

Clinching the runner-up role on the strength of his remarkable achievement in capturing both British and American amateur golf championships this year, Lawson Little was rated the outstanding amateur of 1934 in competition with a strong group of rivals.

Voted first by eight experts, Little was included in the top three on more than half the ballots and easily outpointed his leading amateur rival, Fred Perry, world champion tennis player and Brit-

LIQUOR BOARD PREPARES GIFT

Col. Hughes Announces Total Profit to State of $6,000,000

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Dec. 19 — The Ohio department of liquor control looked into its balance books today and predicted a Christmas gift for the state of $6,000,000.

The $6,000,000 will represent revenues from the time the state liquor stores opened April 3, and will include approximately $1,700,000 in gallonage taxes, the same amount in state store profits, and $2,600,000 in permit fees, Col. John A. Hughes, director of the department, said.

Gross Receipts $11,349,000. Gross revenues for the 35 weeks of operation ending Dec. 1, were $11,340,000, the director's report, and net profits were $1,341,615.

Col. Hughes made his prediction on the basis of these figures and of those for November, which showed, as a result of the Thanksgiving holiday and the football season, total sales of $2,510,986 and a net profit of $416,582. November average weekly profit was $83,332, a weekly increase of $2,514 over October's average of $80,818.

Operating expenses declined during November, the report showed. While the average for the year was 11.6 per cent of total sales, it declined to 7 per cent in November.
